Looking for a place to escape crowds, Chris and Nikki Wardius started exploring the Eastern Shore of Virginia in 2003. After the first year, they bought a vacation house near Folly Creek and found themselves there most summer weekends. Because of their entrepreneurial nature, they started looking for other business ideas. They had no intention of leaving Oxford, PA but they thought the Inn could be a fun investment and an exciting new lifestyle, so they decided to buy it in May 2009.

The Inn was built in the 1962 and the Wardius' started their renovations by replacing all of the beds and were able to donate all 50 mattresses to needy families. They completely renovated the office twice, creating a bright, airy welcome center, gift shop and coffee area. On the Inn, they replaced the soffit , fascia, posts, installed gutters, added a light over each door, painted the doors and the “Brady Bunch brick” a happy yellow color and replaced the largest roof known to man..... what a facelift! They installed a new 260’ well, instantaneous hot water heaters and still keep remodeling.

During the winter of 2010, they had both the two bedroom apartment building and the big house lifted and set on new foundations. During the lifting, Chris completely renovated the big house and built an addition. Over the years, they created several picnic areas, bought a bunch of bikes for guests to use, installed mini-split heater air-conditioners in each room. The list of upgrades goes on and on.

The entire team at the Wachapreague Inn is getting rave reviews from customers who make trips to Wachapreague a tradition. Our return clients are delighted to see the changes and energy surrounding the small community. Everyone loves this Little City by the Sea.
